

DUTY OF CARE

BRUNSWICK EAST PRIMARY SCHOOL POLICY

Rationale

In addition to their professional obligations, principals, teachers and non-teaching staff have a legal duty to take reasonable steps to protect students in their charge from risks of injury or harm that are reasonably foreseeable.

Aims

To ensure that all staff has an understanding of their duty of care to students, and behave in a manner that does not compromise these legal obligations.

Implementation

In addition to their professional obligations, principals and teachers have a legal duty to take reasonable steps to protect students in their charge from risks of injury or harm that are reasonably foreseeable.

Although the general duty is to take reasonable steps to protect students from reasonably foreseeable risks of injury or harm, specific (but not exhaustive) requirements of the duty involve providing adequate supervision in the school or on school activities as well as providing safe and suitable buildings, grounds and equipment.

A teacher's duty of care is not confined to the geographic area of the school, or to school activities, or to activities occurring outside the school where a student is acting on a teacher's instructions. The duty also applies to situations both before and after school where a teacher can be deemed to have 'assumed' the teacher pupil relationship.

The teacher's duty of care is greater than that of the ordinary citizen in that a teacher is obliged to protect a student from reasonably foreseeable harm or to assist an injured student, while the ordinary citizen does not have a legal obligation to respond.

Whilst each case regarding a teacher's legal duty of care will be judged on the circumstances that occurred at the time, the following common examples may be times when a teacher has failed to meet their legal duty of care responsibilities to their students:-

- arriving late to scheduled timetabled yard duty and first aid responsibilities
- failing to act appropriately to protect a student who claims to be bullied
- believing that a child is being abused but failing to report the matter appropriately
- being late to supervise the students after the bell has sounded
- leaving students unattended in the classroom
- failing to instruct a student who is not wearing a hat to report to the staffroom

- ignoring dangerous play
- leaving the school during time release without approval
- inadequate supervision on a school excursion

Staff members are also cautioned against giving advice on matters that they are not professionally competent to give. Advice is to be limited to areas within a teacher's own professional competence and given in situations arising from a role specified for them by the principal.

Teachers must ensure that the advice they give is correct and, where appropriate, in line with the most recent available statements from institutions or employers. Teachers should not give advice in areas outside those related to their role where they may lack expertise.

Evaluation

This policy will be reviewed as part of the school's three-year review cycle.

This policy was ratified by School Council in March 2019.
